

View this email in your browser

We are launching a new website, along with our fall programming! Our doors re-open on September 12th for Deanna Bowen's A Harlem Nocturne. Members will be able to access some of our services starting September 15th. See you soon at Ada X ;)

Programming

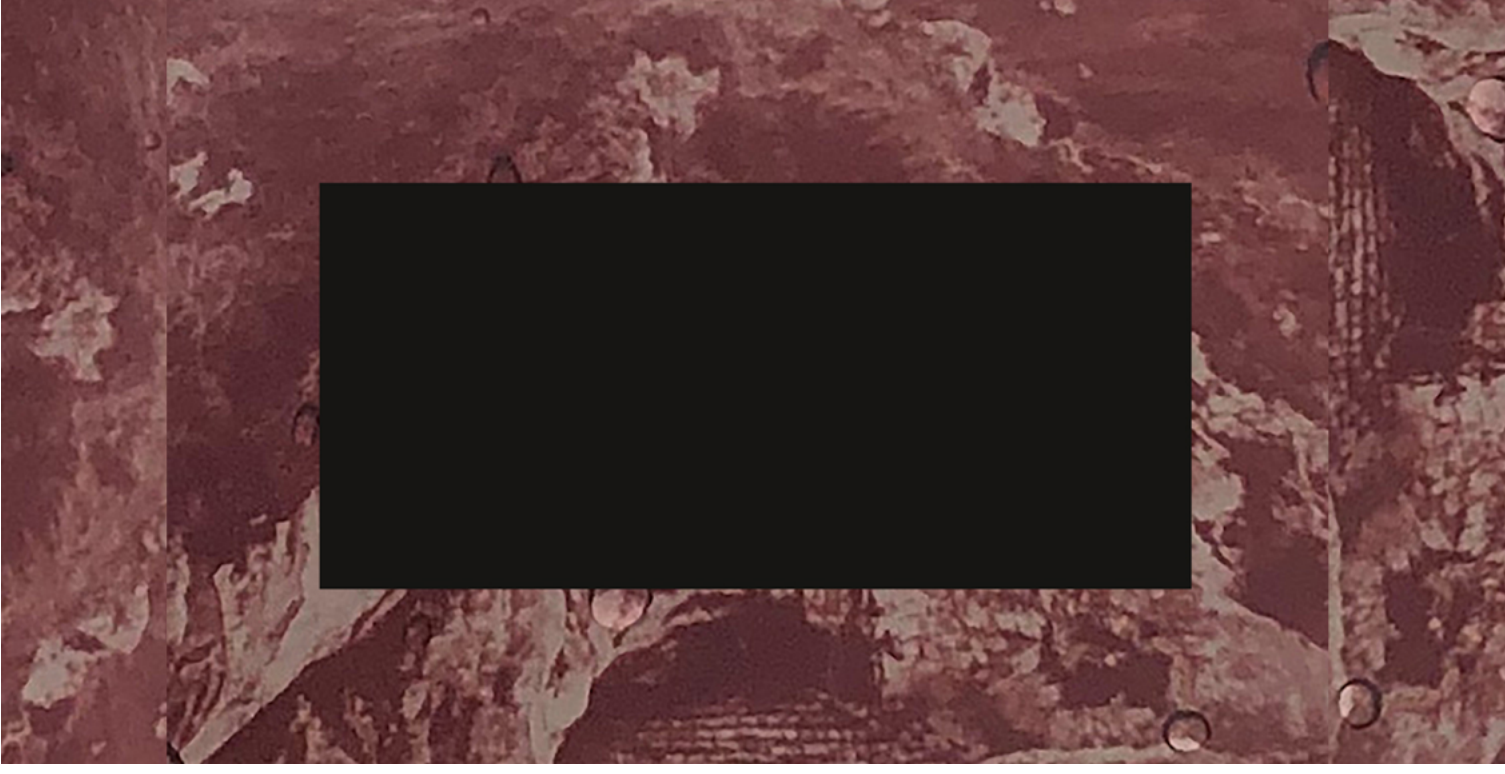

exhibition

A Harlem Nocturne, Deanna Bowen
Curator: Kimberly Phillips
⇓ 4001 Berri (OBORO, Ada X & GIV)
September 12 – October 17
Reserve here

“Bowen’s aim is to posit a powerful counterpoint to common narratives that oversimplify historical narratives of Canada’s complex and vibrant Black presence. She reminds us that even seemingly insignificant documents can be rich repositories for unintended readings, and for questioning who has been charged with writing our histories and why.”
READ MORE

→ We're thrilled to have three residents for the first iteration of our micro-residencies in cultural mediation; Anastasia Erickson, and Josephine Denis + nènè myriam konaté as a collective. Over the six weeks of Deanna Bowen's A Harlem Nocturne, they will activate the exhibition through discussion, reading, and writing. Stay tuned for more information on the residents and their interventions soon!

workshop / performance-installation

The Mouth of Every Cave Will One Day Close, the ffiles
September 17, 5pm – 11pm
⇓ Darling Foundry (Place Publique)

In a context of physical distancing, the ffiles create an environment that replaces touch with sound. Through collective sessions of listening, reading, and composing, the ffiles workshop will explore subjectivity and the transformative potential of radio. READ MORE

Community

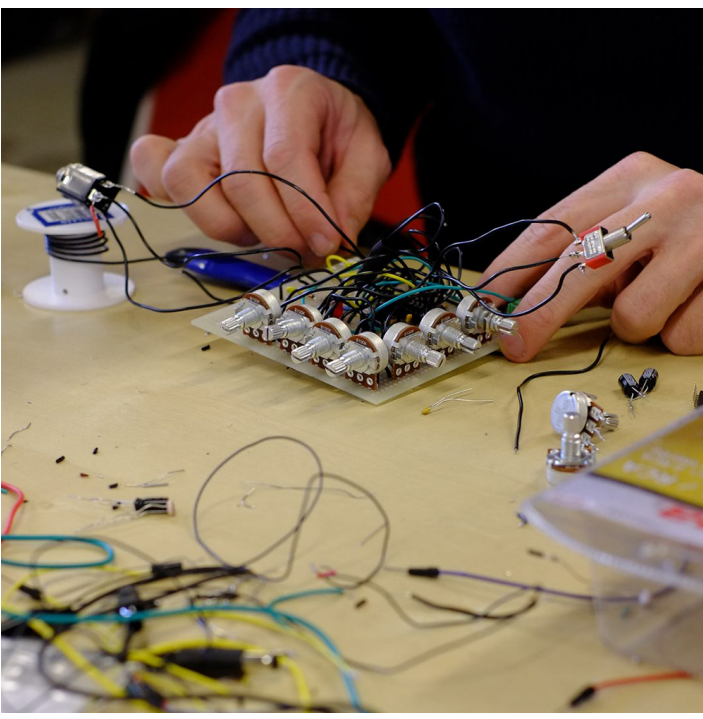

workshop

Fighting against harassment and violence in the arts
Monday, September 21, 4pm – 7pm
⇓ online (register before September 15)

Following the community discussion in August on abuses of power in the arts, Ada X and L'Aperté are offering a free training session addressing harassment and violence in the cultural milieu. Participants will practice evaluating different types of harassment, learn tools for prevention, review potential legal solutions, and explore alternatives to legal recourse. The training is interactive and will include a period of exercises and questions. READ MORE

Trainings

DIY electronics
Fall 2020
⇓ Ada X + online

Participants will explore physical phenomena related to electricity, such as electromagnetism and electrochemistry, in the spirit of Do-It-Yourself creation. + INFO

Mapping Vidéo
Fall 2020
⇓ Ada X + online

This hands-on workshop introduces participants to video mapping techniques using the open-source projection mapping software Map Map, alongside Madmapper. + INFO

→ These workshops will be in a form adapted for physical distancing measures. Contact ateliers@studioxx.org to register.